Rich in functionality

RetailVision Enterprise is ideal for both independent retailers and larger retail organizations in various industries. The new retail software offers standard templates specially focused on the basic functionality needed in your industry. You can adapt workflows to your needs. EDI (Electronic Data Interchange) is integrated. Management information is also among the options. All processes run in one single database. Our solution is flexible and rich in functionality.

Retailing without concerns

When buying RetailVision Enterprise you do not need to invest in software and servers. You are no longer responsible for maintenance and management. You pay a monthly fee for the software and storage you use. You save money and are completely free of worries. The system is available online and users, stores, cash registers and functionality are completely scalable.

Increased efficiency

RetailVision Enterprise offers the possibilities for inter-branch traffic, repairs, complaints, order and customer loyalty. You cherish customers, improve service and save costs. Customer satisfaction and increasing efficiency.

Ultimate control

With central management, goods and shops are managed centrally. You have the ultimate control over your organization and will improve efficiency and profitability.

Better understanding retail of transactions

You have access to all information any place at any time. This gives you better insight into store operation and you can also monitor certain transactions.

Improve efficiency

Realtime insight

Save money

Realtime insight

All information in real time centralized and decentralized at hand. You have the most current information in one database. This enlarges the insight in your organization.

No lost sales

Bases on either sales per store or minimum stock levels (or a combination), automatic reordering will provide you with an efficient tool to maintain the optimum stock levels and prevent you from being out of stock again, lost sales and it saves you valuable time.

Flexibele, user-friendly, simple

RetailVision Enterprise has a flexible screen layout that only displays information relevant to the user. Using workflows you can easily manage shopping processes (complaints, reservations, working positions etc) and the document flow as desired. In a single environment you can freely create forms. On the screen you can immediately see how the result on paper will be (What You See Is What You Get). Furthermore there is no article hierarchy which makes everything more simple.

Full EDI integration

RetailVision Enterprise delivers full EDI (Electronic Data Interchange) functionality such as creating, communicating and processing of EDI messages. Lost sales belong to the past. In addition, a part of the administration is automated thus saving you valuable time. By using EDI you will gain the following advantages:

- Direct access to the complete product range of your suppliers
- Preventing errors
- Order processing is automated, which saves you time
- Optimize range and order pattern
- Higher margins by ordering via EDI

Retailing without concerns

RetailVision Enterprise provides you in no time with the latest merchandise information in e.g. inventory, sales, purchasing, goods received and returns. What is the profit of a certain article during the last month? What are my best sellers and the sales trends? Did my last advertising campaign pay off? At any time you know what your results are. Based on the reports you can take solid decisions which will increase efficiency.

Each retailer is unique. The information you require from a management information solution is also unique. RetailVision Enterprise provides you with a large number of standard analysis and reports. Moreover you have flexible design opportunities. Because of the simple drag and drop principle you can generate specific reports for your specific needs and situation. You can also integrate external data and information from other retail systems. How you present your results is also flexible. You can present a report or a graphic via PDF or Excel. In short, the tool for all your information needs whenever you want, wherever you are.
